It delivers opportunity to engage with common peer-groups and network with colleagues from student to CTO within the individual sessions and exhibitions of the detailed major FISITA events.

The technology of mobility is an area of rapid advancement, created as the world's technical community focuses on delivering the progressive technologies for the clean, safe and sustainable mobility evolution. The event streams will be supplemented by our exciting arena of brands in the Technology of Mobility Exhibition.

FISITA World Congress 12–15 September

As the automobile industry changes fast and forever, so does the technical landscape from which solutions to the most complex challenges of our era are created – the FISITA World Congress programme reflects this dynamism.

The 39th FISITA World Congress will explore the technology, methodology and strategy of mobility, from design, through manufacture and use.

By bringing together the many different disciplines of engineering innovation required for the technology of tomorrow's mobility, the largest Congress FISITA has ever delivered will create the most significant connection opportunity for the international community of mobility engineers, today.

The Congress will deliver technical sessions to up to thousands of delegates, through high profile keynote speakers and roundtable discussions throughout the week as well as provide B2B engagement opportunity within an exhibition featuring the leading mobility systems brands.

The traditional product-focused development model is being challenged by new cutting-edge trends focusing on delivering services and mobility. Consolidated manufacturers as well as new players are in constant innovation to define the future in this continuously changing scenario. Alongside the main conference pillars of Design, Manufacture and Use, to create tomorrow's mobility today requires cross-cutting evolved and different technical aspirations such as safety, digitisation, sustainability and more.

Creating more opportunities for the international community of FISITA to welcome more contributors to the pre-competitive, technical and strategic dialogue – all innovators in thought as well as technology, have a place at the FISITA World Congress.
